13 THE BOEING COMPANY, et al.,

14 Defendants.

CASE NO. C21-0896JLR

MINUTE ORDER

15 The following minute order is made by the direction of the court, the Honorable
16 James L. Robart:

17 On December 27, 2023, Defendants The Boeing Company and Boeing HorizonX
18 Ventures, LLC (together, “Boeing”) alerted the court to three outstanding discovery
19 disputes regarding Boeing’s requests: (1) that Plaintiff Zunum Aero, Inc. (“Zunum”)
20 collect, search, and produce documents from Zunum’s founders’ personal email and text
21 messaging accounts; (2) that Zunum supplement its responses to Boeing’s Interrogatories
22 2, 3, and 17; and (3) for a protective order precluding Zunum from questioning Boeing’s

1 Rule 30(b)(6) witnesses on certain topics. Boeing believes the first two disputes can be
2 resolved without briefing but that the third should be briefed. The court ORDERS the 3 following:

4 1. Concerning the first two disputes, each party shall file on the docket a letter
5 not exceeding two pages in length by 5:00 p.m. PST on Friday, December 29, 2023. The 6 court will hold a hearing on these discovery disputes on Wednesday, January 3, 2024, at 7 12:00 p.m. PST via telephonic conference.

8 2. Concerning the third dispute, Boeing shall file a motion not exceeding 9 1,500 words by no later than January 2, 2024. Zunum shall file a response not exceeding
10 1,500 words by no later than January 9, 2024. The motion shall be noted for January 9, 11 2024, and no reply brief will be permitted.

12 Filed and entered this 28th day of December, 2023.
